

I would love to express my deepest appreciation to

The Institute for Economic Forecasting

on the occasion of its anniversary celebration, marking 55 years of academic and scientific research in the field of Economic Forecasting, and 25 years of uninterrupted publication of Romania's first ISI-indexed economics journal.

This dual milestone reflects a remarkable legacy of intellectual rigor, innovation, and dedication to advancing economic science both nationally and internationally. I would love to honor the scholars, researchers, and contributors whose vision and commitment have built a lasting institution, fostering excellence in research and policy insight.

May this celebration renew inspiration and open new paths for collaboration and discovery.

With respect and gratitude, I salute your extraordinary achievements.

Wolfgang Karl Härdle
